

PHI 214: Issues in Business Ethics, Summer 1 2017

MTWTF 9:50 – 11:20 or 11:40 – 1:10

May 17 – June 20 2017

This course satisfies the GEP Humanities requirement for graduation.

What makes any decision in business right or wrong?

How do you decide how much different people in your business should be paid in a way that is fair to everyone?

Does modern advertising violate any important moral values in the ways it tries to influence decisions of consumers?

What makes a good leader in business?

These are some of the issues among others that students will have chance to discuss in this course. Although this course is normally filled during fall and spring terms, you now have the possibility of taking this course in five weeks during Summer 1 2017.
